ONE DIES IN CYCLONE WHICH SWEPT KANSAS TOWN

FLOGGERS BEAT EAST TEXAS NEGRO TO DEATH

U. S. BIRDMEN REACH SUNNY FRANCE IN WORLD FLIGHT

DAMAGE EXCEEDS A MILLION IN AREA NEAR AUGUSTA

WICHITA, Kans., July 15.—A terrific wind storm attaining cyclonic proportions struck Augusta, Kansas, twenty miles east of here at 8:40 o'clock Sunday night.

One woman is known to have been killed while a score or more were badly injured. These were rushed to the Augusta and Wichita hospitals where it was reported no one was expected to die.

Augusta is a wilderness of debris. The city was struck by both a tornado and a cyclone, according to physicians caught in the storm. While a gale of cyclonic nature was blowing from the north a tornado struck the west edge of the city and then swept through the main part of the town, demolishing the stone Catholic church and wrecking practically every business building on State street, the main street of the place.

Property damage will exceed $1,000,000.

At a late hour the body of one woman, Mrs. R. F. Scott, had been found. Seachers were of the belief that the wreckage would yield more bodies. The Augusta hospital was taxed to capacity to care for the more serious cases of the injured.

A drenching rain poured over the city following the storm, hampering the work of rescuers.

BRAZIL TROOPS ATTEMPTING TO STOP REBELLION

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 14.—The situation in Sao Paulo, where Brazilian Federal troops are attempting to put down the military rebellion which started more than a week ago appeared to have settled down to a stubborn siege today with all indications that the Government eventually will be successful in restoring order.

Heavy additional reinforcements were sent to the scene of operations yesterday, both by rail and water.

Traffic on the Central Do Brasil Railway has ben opened and supplies and troops are now proceeding in a steady stream over this great artery to the rebellious zone.

Scores of prisoners and some wounded arrived in Rio over the week-end.

No official communique was issued yesterday and no newspapers were published.

Reports that the rebellion has a communist aspect and has received widespread support from the poorer classes in Sao Paulo, were denied vigorously in official circles.

"The movement is purely military and has no civilian support," the foreign official said. Reports that a majority of the population of Sao Paulo State favors secession from the Brazilian union also were vigorously denied.

GUARDSMEN RUSHED TO STORM CENTER

WICHITA, Kas., July 14.—Seventy-five National Guardsmen left Wichita shortly after midnight for Augusta to do guard duty and render aid to the sufferers, following Sunday night's storm there. About twelve doctors also went to the stricken city to aid the injured.

Scores of Wichitans went to Augusta today to view the wreckage.

SEVERE FIGHTING IS ON IN SAO PAULO

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 14.—With rebels still in control of Sao Paulo, severe fighting is under way. Federals are preparing for a big attack.

A CONNECTED SYSTEM OF HIGHWAYS

The most important economic problem before the American people today, and more especially Texas, is the building and maintenance of a connected system of State controlled highways.

Our former slip-shod method of locally built and controlled roads is not only ruinous from the standpoint of taxation and cost but is getting us nowhere.

There is not another business on earth that could exist very long, if run on the same method as road building, not only in Texas but in all the States of the Union.

Locally built and maintained roads have cost the taxpayers billions of dollars and they have no completed, connected system of highways to show for the big outlay of funds, raised from the people who sweat and toil and suffer to earn their livelihood and pay their taxes.

Any road program today that does not include a connected system of standard, hard surfaced roads, joining the centers of population not only of Texas, but of the whole United States, falls short considerably of that which it should be to gain for the community in question the proper returns on the initial and incident expenditure.

Nearly all the states in the Union have already recognized this fact and have adopted the broader program of laying and building a system of trunk line highways, uniformly maintained as State roads.

Texas today has more than 18,000 miles of surfaced roads of all classes, yet there is not a single stretch in a straight line 250 miles long to be found anywhere within the borders of the Lone Star State.

No highway is better, as such, than the worst link in it.

No road anywhere, for that matter, is any better than its bog holes.

What doth it profit a man to find paved highways between mud pools?

There will always be impassable links in our highway system until our state highway department be given more power and the money necessary to the complete development of the great arteries of transportation and traffic of Texas.

It is not always a question of honesty in local road building. Nearly all the County Commissioners of this state are honest men, but the failure on their part, wherever they have failed, can be laid to lack of knowledge and the absence of a broad program that provides for a connected system of roads properly built and properly maintained.

North Carolina is one of the most notable examples of the state wide system of road building to be found in the Southland.

Five years ago, North Carolina had less than 200 miles of surfaced roads and stood at the very bottom of the list of states in taxable values.

Today North Carolina has more than 7,000 miles of state controlled, paved highways, connecting every town in the state with every other town and the adjoining states, and today North Carolina's taxable values are more than 400 per cent greater than they were five years ago.

This increase would pay for the magnificent road system four times.

A road is not a highway until it starts somewhere and goes somewhere.

Let every Limestone county citizen urge the County Judge and Commissioners Court to withdraw the proceedings against the state highway department and give this county an equal chance with all other Texas counties in the benefits to be derived from whatever program of development may be planned for the future.

The proud mother saw the troops go by and pointed to her son, as being the only soldier who was in step.

Limestone County is like this John. This county is alone in its attack in the courts against the highway department and every tax payer and citizen in the county are to suffer as a result, for this year and doubtless for many years to come, unless Limestone steps in line with progress, wisdom and foresight at the very earliest possible moment.

VIENNA, July 14.—The three American 'round the world airplanes took off from Vienna for Paris, a distance of 650 miles at 5:40 a. m. today. They expected to reach the French capital at 2 p. m. (Vienna time).

The airmen had intended upon their arrival at Paris, to circle over the Arc d'Triomphe and drop a floral wreath upon the grave of the Unknown Soldier, but the flowers they ordered failed to arrive in time, and they were little specks on the Western horizon before the automobile delivery wagon from the florists dashed up to the airdome.

"We are glad to see white faces again and hear our language," Lieut. Lowell Smith, flight commander said. "We are enjoying this business of 'working our way around the world' but we certainly do long for the United States."

The flyers arrived safely at Strassbourg, a distance of 460 miles from Vienna, according to reports received here. After a brief half hour in Strassbourg they took the air again for Paris.

He expects to reach Yetorfu this afternoon.

MOUNTAINS ARE BEING SCOURED FOR LOST MAJOR

ASHVILLE, N. C., July 14.—The mountainous sections around Ashville were scoured today by volunteer searchers hunting traces of Major Samuel H. McLeary, missing since July 2, when he left Raleigh for Fort Moultrie, S. C.

The search was organized by Major S. M. Williams, when a blood-stained army cap and an abandoned automobile, both identified as Major McLeary's, were found near Canton.

Word reached here that farmers in the vicinity of Canton had told of seeing two men in the army officer's car and that one of them had asked for water with which to wash away blood stains.

Authorities believe Major McLeary had been murdered and his body concealed. They could supply no motive.

Major McLeary, transferred from Fort Leavenworth, Kas., to Fort Moultrie, had driven with his wife to Norfolk, Va., and then set out alone on the lap of his journey. After wiring for funds to be sent him at Columbia, he disappeared at Raleigh two weeks ago.

Here's How It Happened

The Inside Story of the National Democratic Convention.

By A. GARLAND ADAIR
Managing Editor of The Mexia Daily News

NUMBER THREE

The Democratic convention was really over long before it adjourned. That is, the peak came before the end. The high note was struck and history made when delegates and spectators wrestled together at Madison Square Garden over the platform and lined up on the majority and minority platform planks.

After a stormy session like that, unique to say the least of it, everything else was flat and becalmed.

The nomination for President and Vice President hinged and turned on the issues of that session. The fight lasted about eight hours, from six o'clock Saturday evening until two o'clock Sunday morning, following the convening of the assemblage the Tuesday before.

The fight there, however, was not as great as that conducted in the committee room, according to committeemen present. Waged on the floor, with 18,000 people looking on, not one of whom was silent all the way through, the convention battle was the more spectacular of the two.

When the platform of the party is forgotten and the results in November are chronicled by historians, the story of that period will remain fresh in the minds of those who heard and witnessed the proceedings or who listened in over radio. Baker's poignant plea for the League of Nations made a profound impression, both on the galleries and on the delegates seated in the arena under them. In earnestness, it probably has never been surpassed at any convention and the magnificent appeal for America's participation in a world wide peace plan will no doubt be used throughout whatever campaign is necessary to bring about a favorable vote on the subject, should it be submitted, as the majority plank provides, to the ballots of Americans. It was a drama never achieved in theatrical circles in New York City and had a touch of the tragic in it, as the vote showed that the delegates favored the plank as drafted in the platform proper.

The convention opened with everyone anxious but silent. Hundreds of police, brightly uniformed marched down the aisles of the convention hall, and without a word stationed themselves at regular intervals throughout the space occupied by the delegates. The delegates looked at them and smiled, wondering why they did not go to the galleries instead, where the real trouble, if any, would take place. Fourteen policemen lined up around the Texas delegates, which occupied an outside position, where they were watched closely by thousands of men and women who viewed the Texans as if they were some foreign element antagonistic to them and their cause, which was Al Smith.

When Mr. Baker appeared to deliver his appeal, a solid wall of people, bending and breathless, focused every eye on the little lawyer in a black coat, pale faced, exhausted and dishevelled, begging for sympathy and support in a great cause. For an hour, he tore the referendum plank into shreds with destroying and passionate pleas. He was a lonely battler amidst giants. When he had concluded, he received an ovation so remarkable and pronounced, which came from visitors and delegates alike, that the unknowing would have thought at once that he had won his cause and had converted the convention. He had given the session an hour of exaltation and of splendor. He was cheered to the echo but did not change the vote. He retired from the scene a haggard hero, with the rejected covenant clutched to his heart, but no doubt, awoke and reawoke in the hearts of all his hearers a greater faith than ever in League of Nations as written by Woodrow Wilson, the idol of the party.

PARIS, July 14.—Large stripes and mighty plaids are features of the new frocks that are being prepared for Summer resorts and outing places.

The smaller the woman the larger the patterns of the plaid. The bigger the check the better in this case, as well as in that of the paper variety. In fact, some of the smaller women have taken on the appearance of just one large check. This is all right for one of small dimensions, but let the woman of large proportions, especially across the back, take care!

For country wear there is a charming linen dress of soft, creamy tint, showing a wide brown stripe, alternating with some narrow yellow lines edged with white. Another comes in checkered, embroidered white voile or muslin, with lace insertions covering the material.

For street wear there are light kashas in large plaids; simple, straight and very short, with no trimming but a narrow leather belt and white cowl collar. There are plaid coats with plain dresses, or the other way around. This is very smart in gray, with yellow and blue in the plaid, or may be in brown, with yellow in the plaid. Navy with plaid silk makes a nice combination.

Plaid muslins make charming afternoon dresses to wear under silk coats, and they are also much used for tunics and casaquins. Then there are taffetas in gay Scotch patterns, which appear as vestee effects in tailored cloth costumes. They come in alpaca weave, combined with solid color satin and form the foundation of a dress veiled over with a dark chiffon.

For traveling costumes and coats there is nothing more popular than the large checks and plaids. Beer puts a large shawl collar of checkered ziblikasha on a costume of the plain material and a deep fisherwoman's hem, as well. A plain costume with checkered capes, makes a very smart outfit.

J. D. Arrington has returned from ten days business trip through Southwest Texas—down in the Brownsville country—and says things look pretty down there in the valley.

Mexia Pays About Same For Goods As New Yorkers

According to Mexia citizens, recently visiting in New York City, prices at Mexia compare very favorable with prices found in the mercantile establishments and department stores of the East. Prices for clothing, ready made, hats, shoes and dry goods were about the same there as here. If anything it is declared that the customer at Mexia is favored with slightly lower prices over the customers of New York City. The biggest difference in prices noted were in cafes as compared with prices in cafes here. The restaurants of New York City, generally, are much cheaper than in Mexia. Sweet milk sells for five cents per glass. The meat, steaks and chops and chicken sold in New York is much inferior to that sold here. The articles mentioned are kept so long in cold storage that a Texan could not relish them at all and soon learned not to order any meat, unless it was ham or bacon for breakfast. At the cafeterias, ham and eggs or bacon and eggs, with potatoes, butter, bread and coffee, were to be had for forty cents, while at restaurants where they were served to the customers the price was fifty-five cents. Also restaurants were numerous where a breakfast of cereal or fruit, some sort of meat, potatoes, one egg, toast or bread and coffee or milk could be had for fifty cents.

The most popular drink at confectionery stands in New York City now is orange fruit juice. Stands dispensing this beverage are to be found almost every block and the drink is sold to millions daily at five cents a glass, the oranges being crushed and kept ice cold.

Waco Manager Is Well Known Here

E. E. Adams, of Bryan, is scheduled to assume the duties of City Manager of Waco Tuesday of this week. He was appointed Waco City Manager about two weeks ago. For his services he is to be paid $500 monthly. Mr. Adams is well known in Mexia. For the past several years he has been City Manager at Bryan. On a visit paid by Bryan Rotarians to Mexia several months ago, Mr. Adams was with the crowd and spoke in behalf of the City Manager plan at the program given by the Bryanites at the Reunion Grounds. He is a trained Civil Engineer and an A. and M. graduate. He succeeds J. B. McCauley, Waco's first City manager, who resigned after holding the office only a very few weeks. He stated that the City Manager plan was alright but that he could not get along with one of the Commissioners.

Landrum Tells Boys Of Mexia Advantages Compared With East

W. B. Landrum, who recently attended the National Democratic Convention in New Yory City, at the First Christian Church Sunday School Sunday taught a boys class, stressing upon each youthful mind how happy he should be that he is a young citizen of Mexia. He pointed out that the children of Texas are blessed with environments conducive to manly growth, and genuine happiness not to be found generally by the millions of lads and lassies of the big city of the East. He pointed out that in one section, about a mile square in New York there is a million people. He visited this section and saw the children by the tens of thousands in the streets and on the sidewalks. They appeared to be existing merely and not living. In all the vast multitude, he did not see a barefoot child. The heat on the pavement was so intense that they had to wear shoes through the hot summer months.

The grief stricken parents have the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends in their great loss.

WHACHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's hero: Joe Bush, Yank's moundsman. He let the Browns down with five hits while his teammates amassed a 6 to 2 victory.

The veteran Al Sothoron was chased from the mound while the Robins were pounding out their 9 to 4 victory over the Cards.

The Braves blanked the Reds, 4 to 0, in the first game but lost the second, 6 to 0.

Three home runs from the Giant's heavy sluggers enabled New York to pound out a 9 to 6 win over the Cubs.

Umpire Holmes was struck on the jaw by irate fan after Holmes had banished Manager Harris, yet the Senators won from the Indians, 15 to 11.

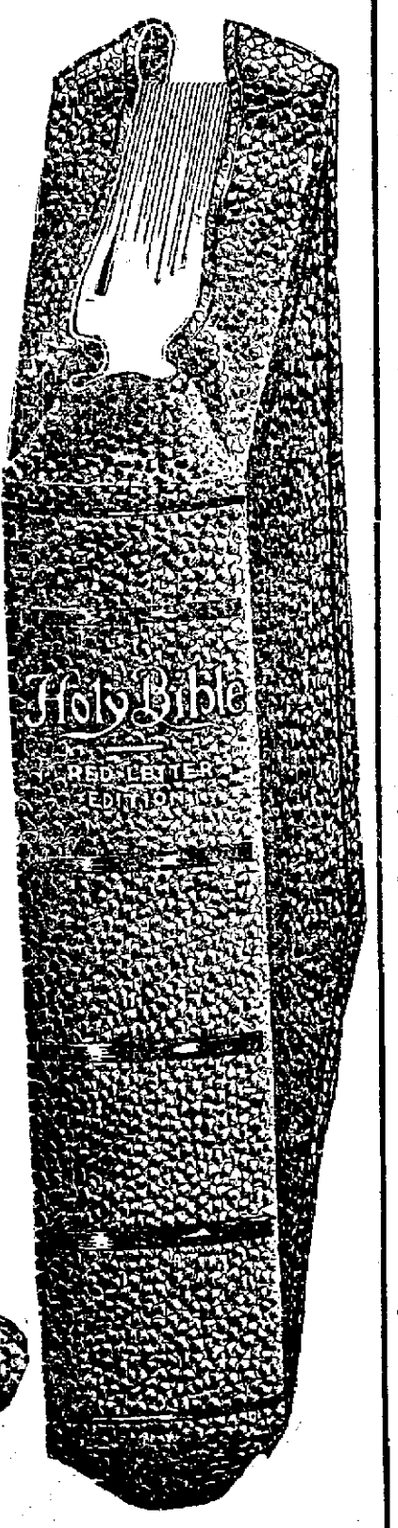
BIBLE DISTRIBUTION

Following the most distressing period of unrest the world has ever known, comes a world-wide revival of Bible reading, which must tend to ameliorate the unrestful conditions of mankind. To encourage such an end, leading newspapers througout this country have joined forces to promote the distribution of the great Book of Books, and have adopted a plan that should readily place the Bible in the hands of every reader. Two exclusive editions have been chosen for this purpose—first, the famous large print Red Letter Bible, illustrated herein, and a beautiful plain print, medium large type edition that will be distributed for a nominal sum by the News Publishing Co.



EVERY READER MAY HAVE THIS BIBLE

by taking advantage of the plan explained below and set forth in the Bible Coupon printed daily on another page of this newspaper.

"For Mexia, I WILL"

HONEST NOW

Am I really and truly interested in my church—in helping it achieve its objects and ideals—or do I just think I am? What do I do to prove my interest—that it's half as vital, for example, as I think it is?

How do I look to the man on the outside? Could he tell I am interested by what I do? How do I look to him?

Am I a good example for anybody to follow, or do I just think I am, or do I think about my responsibility, in this connection, at all?

Do I attend church service as often as I think I do?

How would the minister classify me? As interested, indifferent, cold, as a friend and helper, or just as—one of the congregation? Would he be justified by what I do?

Do I really give as the Lord hath prospered me, or do I just think I do? If I should add up my contributions to local church support and to missions, would they represent as large a part of my total income as I think they do?

Would a stranger think me as liberal as I think I am, even if he had all the facts of my other responsibilities?

Do I really care for missions at all? Do I really ever deny myself—a new suit, cigars—anything—to help forward the cause? Do I really ever deny myself, or I just think I do?

Do I really believe it more blessed to give than to receive, or do I just think I do?

What kind of church member am I anyhow? Am I the kind I think I am, or do I just think I am?

Try a little introspection along these lines.—Duplex-Richmond

"But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and Ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth."—Acts 1:8.

"So far as we know, history has no instance of a national character built up without the aid of religious instruction. The final question regarding education is whether it avails to produce the type of character required by the republic and the race."—Edward O. Sisson.

"I believe in religious instruction for American children. The future cannot be trusted to the children unless their education includes their spiritual development"—Warren G. Harding

Some one has said truly: "It matters not on what plane of life one labors, nor how large or small the number of his acquaintances, the man who toils and yet knows that in the circle of his influence there is at least one life in which there is sunshine where, but for him, there would have been shadow; that there is at least one home in which there is cheer, where, but for him, there would have been gloom; that there is at least one heart in which there is hope where, but for him, there would have been despair—that man carries with him, as he goes, one of the richest treasures on this earth."—(From First Presbyterian Bulletin)

THERE'S ART IN BOBBING

It's no longer a question of snip, snip and it's off.

Particular women now demand that the hair which remains form a becoming frame for the face and gracefully outlined head.

That's where "art" comes in, for there are as many styles of bobs as there are bobbed haired girls and women. Each one is an individual problem of chin, eyes, nose and mouth.

Then there's the fashionable element — the smart touch which has always associated Paris with women's coiffures——

And the necessity of keeping the hair glossy, fluffy and clean.

All that fastidious women desire will be accomplished by a weekly visit and a small sum well spent at

HOLLINGSWORTH IS HOME FROM BIG MEETING OF LIONS

Noel Hollingsworth has returned from Omaha, Nebraska, where he attended the Eighth Annual Convention of Lions International, representing the Mexia club.

He reports a great convention and one that sounded a new high note of service to the communities in which the Lions clubs are active.

About 4,000 delegates and visitors were present, representing all states of the United States and two Canadian provinces.

The program was inspirational and entertaining throughout. The message stressed upon the delegates was that every Lions organization should have an objective, a goal, a purpose of community uplife and service. This was particularly emphasized by Merl Smith, of Kansas City, in an address on "Putting Pep into the Clubs."

The music and entertainment features. Mr. Hollingsworth declared to be superb and "all we needed was thirty six hours every day while there" he stated.

The convention lasted from June 20 to June 24, inclusive.

Lt. Colonel Charles M. R. Graham of Montreal delivered one of the foremost speeches of the session, this being in response to the address of welcome tendered by Mayor John C. Dahlman of Omaha. The Canadaman stated that some had referred to the Canadians as "Cousins to Americans". He said with fervor that this was wrong, that Canadians and Americans are brothers.

Dr. M. M. Neilson told the convention of the Narcotic Habit. He was from Salt Lake. Douglas Malloch was on the program and entertained the delegates with his humorous verse on "Some Sinners I Have Met." J. Adam Beade spoke on "The Abolition of Hate."

Harry A. Newman of Toronto was elected President of the Club this coming year and Cedar Point, Iowa, was selected as the 1925 convention city.

CASE OF MIRRORED VISION

(From Buffalo, N. Y. Express)

Fairmont, W. Va.—What is believed to be the sixth case of mirrored vision ever discovered, has been found in the Fairmont schools. Sam Tiana sees backwards, writes from the right to the left of the paper, reads backward and even sees things coming toward him that are really going away from him.

About three weeks ago Tiana entered the Fourth grade of the Miller school. Something seemed to be the matter with the child, so an examination was arranged with Miss Ruth Hellelman, school nurse, and Dr. Luther Davis. Dr. Davis discovered that the child was having trouble with his eyes. Miss Charlotte Townson, teacher of the second grade, then produced some of the boy's writing, showing that he wrote all of his letters backward, beginning at the right hand of the paper and ding to the left. The result was unreadable unless reflected in a mirror.

Another examination was arranged with Dr. H. R. Johnson, eye specialist, who declared that he believed the case to be one of mirrored vision, one of the most unusual of eye cases. The defect is caused by some imperfection in the brain construction. When the examination took place here a New York specialist was present, who said he had never seen a similar case.

LETTERS From the People

INNOCENT AMUSEMENTS

While out driving with a crowd of the older generation in our town over the good paved streets we saw several cars going in one direction, we just thought we would see where the jolly bunch of youngsters were going. All at once they drove up to a home on North Kaufman, of course we stopped too. In one of the cars was the "Sun Down Orchestra" and another a three gallon freezer of ice cream and we decided to sit in our car and hear the music which we all enjoyed far more than just riding around. We sat there and watched the youngsters enjoy their young days as we all once enjoyed ours, only we went from sundown to sunup where they never think of staying out later than twelve. As long as we stayed there as well as others came up and looked and listened not one word did we hear wrong nor a single boy or girl left to take a car ride or sit out side for the music was appreciated by them as well as a number of others I want to say one word for them, if there were more homes opened to entertainments there would be far less car riding, reunion ground dancing, swimming parties and picture show stories to tell. It would be far more appreciating and more confidence placed in parents and children than it is to be walking the floors and weeping "O where is my wandering boy or girl tonight" than it could be with a contented mind with a happy spirit of "When you and I were young Maggie." Whether you care to take part or not allow them more privilege and there will be less car wrecks, as well as slipping off and going home to tell mother and father a litle "get-by" story, for they are young as well as we all once have been and they will be more truthful to their parents.

MAD HATTER LIVES UP TO NAME

NEW YORK, July 11.—Mad Hatter, of the Rancocas Stable, is an "in-and-outer." If it weren't for this the colt might easily have made a name for itself as the greatest on the American turf.

Sam Hildreth, the taciturn, who loves horses better than anything else and understands them better than most people, talks a little about Mad Hatter once in a while. When he does, he says:

"He's the most peculiar horse ever I trained. Easy to train, too. Gentle in the stable; rather quiet-like and thoughtful a good bit of the time. But what's going on behind those big brown yes, Lord only knows.

"In the morning trials he'll do any thing we ask him to. He eats all the time. He loves Earl Sande, who rides him best.

"But when he gets the colors up and starts for the post—nobody knows what he's going to do."

Mad Hatter has done some pretty big things in its equine way. Its winnings fall just a bit short of $200,000. They could have been twice that sum had it always chosen to win.

The horse is 8 years old, sound, can carry big weight (although it is beginning to feel its age a little in this respect,) has started in 91 races and won more than a third of them, including 18 important stakes, this year's Suburban Handicap among them. But Mad Hatter will do its best when and only when it feels so inclined.

"When he leaves my hands," says Hildreth, who once bought Mad Hatter from Major Belmont and sold it it Harry F. Sinclair, whose horses he now trains, "all I can do is pray. Sometimes he stands up there like a statue; sometimes he's mean and bites the other horses.

"Mars Cassidy (the veteran starter) generally puts him on the outside. Saves trouble when the horse starts kicking up.

"Sometimes he wants to run out in front and sometimes he wants to run behind, and sometimes he just naturally don't want to run at all, and on those occasions even Earl Sande can't get him up.

"He's a puzzle. You can't force Mad Hatter. Sande's best at humoring him. We know he likes a hard, fast track and that he resents punishment and that when he's unusually quiet the day before a race he is going to run well.

"But what that horse intends to do next nobody knows. And he's good for several more years of the same. Not a blemish on his legs.

Mad Hatter is by Fair Play out of Madcap. August Belmont had the horse at his Kentucky Nursery Farm. It won the first two times out. Hildreth, who hadn't been over-enthusiastic at first, became interested, but the colt caught a fever and the war came on and Belmont sold his horses, Mad Hatter among them. Hildreth didn't want the colt to get away, so he bought it himself.

Under Hildreth's ownership, the horse won the Latonia Championship of $50,000 and the Pimlco Autumn Handicap. It is the only colt to win two Metropolitan Handicaps. In 1921 it won the Kings County Handicap and the Jockey Cup, and the following year won them both again. Some of his other stake victories were in the Toboggan, the Bowie Handicap the October Handicap. This year it won the Suburban and the Laurelton.

MARLIN 6, AUSTIN 4.

NATIONAL THRIFT COMMITTEE REPORTS PROGRESS

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 14.—(Scottish Rite News Bureau).—The work of the Committee on Thrift Education, of the National Education Association, is intimately concerned not only with the saving of money, the elimination of waste, and the teaching of these in the public schools, but with the making of a higher type of citizen. Character forms the basis of all citizenship; the better characters are those who have a wise forethought for the future, which is the end and aim of all thrift teaching.

Arthur M. Chamberlain, chairman of the committee, says:

"To integrate the thrift activities and projects with the regular school subjects is to give vitality and meaning to lessons which may seem, under the old system of teaching, to bear no relation to the life of the individual. As we have tried out the system in Oakland, California, the work in English is enriched and made to function in all school studies; the arithmetic is practicalized and carried over into everyday activities; the social studies, civics, citizenship, Americanization, biography, take on meaning and significance. Students are led into—not away from—a desire to save and spend wisely, to evaluate time, and to husband the resources of nature for the benefit of future generations.

"It is the desire of the thrift committee to develop further courses of study in a number of outstanding school systems throughout the country."

In the "little red school house" days of education thrift was taught, if taught at all, only in its home economic aspects. That is, the farmer's daughter was instructed that it was "sinful" to waste food, and that only that should go to the pig pen which was not fit for human consumption. The boy was taught that "thrift" consisted in the saving of money, rather than of effort; with money scarce, it, of course, became the great object of saving.

Thrift as taught today means economy of effort, of resources, of time, as well as of money. Public school teaching of thrift today is a citizenshop builder, not a maker of misers. That the committee in charge of the work is so well able to spread the teaching is a source of the greatest satisfaction to all who have the cause of real character building education at heart.

SAVED BY HIS BELT

WILMER—When lightning struck a telephone wire near a pole on which Andy Ashley, lineman, was working, Ashley was knocked unconscious and tumbled backwards, but a safety belt caught on an iron peg on the pole and he hung there until rescued. The belt severely shocked Ashley.

HOUSEWIVES ARE MAD

DALLAS—Housewives here are up in arms because ice companies have boosted the price of ice five cents a hundred pounds. Now they plan to force the companies to carry scales on the wagons and weigh each piece of ice before delivering it. At present the ice wagon drivers do not use scales, merely judging the weight by "hefting" the ice and by dividing a 300 pound block into squares.

SWAT THE FLY

Bad legislation and exorbitant prices and wages are the same thing, that is, they are equivalent to prohibitive costs. Fundamentals are sound and business will be good unless prospects are neutralized by avoidable mistakes.—Journal, Lorain, Ohio

Presbyterians Honor Miss Oates

The members of the First Presbyterian Church enjoyed an unusually pleasant social hour Thursday evening when they gathered on the lawn of the manse, nominally to participate in an old fashioned get-to-gether party, but really to express appreciation of one of the most loved members of the congregation, Miss Nan Oates. The honoree was carefully left uninformed as to the underlying motive of the gathering.

At 8.45, the assembled guests were seated in the lighted and festively decorated yard. As a pleasant introduction to the program, Mr. George Bell sang two numbers, being accompanied on the piano by Miss Oates After this, the Reverend Hudson, pastor of the church, in a few sentences struck the key-note of the evening when he described the benefit of a life of service. After Mr. Hudson had spoken, Mrs Chas. Alderman took charge of the program in the capacity of toast mistress. After explaining that the feature of the evening would be in the nature of a surprise she gave a signal, in response to which, four pages, Masters Henry Moore, T. E. Wright, Tommie Randolph and Fay Smith appeared bearing aloft on their shoulders a beautifully decorated chair, which, with due ceremony, was placed on the platform that had been made ready for it. Mrs Alderman then told the audience that they would pretend for just that evening, that the chair was a throne—Miss Nan Oates her Majesty, who was to sit on the throne, and the members of the Presbyterian church her loyal subjects assembled to pay their homage and pledge anew their allegiance

Misses Glynn Mitchell and Emma Reynolds were asked to act as a royal escort to conduct Miss Oates to the throne This ceremony being completed the toast mistress in a few fitting words paid a tribute to the honoree, after which, in response to her call, the following toasts were given, the first in order being from the Sunday School class of which Miss Oates is a member. This was given by Miss Lillian Ross, the president of the class, and was as follows

There is a person in our class—
You know her very well—
Whose willing hand and kindly heart
In words 'tis hard to tell

We like her for her gentle self;
We like her happy way,
We like her for the things she says,—
And things she doesn't say.

She's always helping carry on,
She's never "picking motes,"
She's many, many other things,—
But then,—she's just Nan Oates

After the toast was given the class filed to a semi-circular position behind the throne making a background for the tableau effect which was to be formed as the program proceeded

Other toasts given were from Mrs T B Chatham as representative of the Auxiliary

In our Auxiliary Circle of the First Presbyterian Church,
We have a charter membership, whom we love very much
To her, duty is a pleasure, she's intent and she's kind,
She's faithful in small things, a virtue hard to find

She has the gift of making friends for she's loyal and she's true,
Without her in the Circle, I don't know what we'd do
Of course it's Nan I'm talking about, and we wish her happiness,
May she be filled with peace and joy
And her heart just full of gladness

From a band of children representing the Sunday School
(Air 'How Love Me')

That we love you all you must know,
For we're here to tell you so
May God His ble sings keep in store
And guard and guide you evermore
Chorus
Yes Nan we love you
Yes Nan we love you
Yes Nan we love you
We're here to tell you so.

As a representative of the whole church Mr G A Livell expressed their appreciation as follows

Miss Nan I come as a messenger from the church and I am asked to not only express our appreciation of your faithful service in the church's many different phases of work but to acknowledge an obligation of long standing—an indebtedness that has only grown greater with the passing years, until now we feel our utter inability to convey to you the true genuineness and depth of the feelings of our people

I refer to your work as Organist in the treble capacity of church, Sunday school and prayer meeting services

We may have seemed indifferent and insensible to the innumerable sacrifices that you have made, and the many hours of valuable time you have given to this work, and perhaps we have not always been sufficiently thoughtful to express our gratitude in words, but at this moment we would come with one mind and heart assuring you deep down in our hearts we have been ever cognizant of our obligation to you

How often have we followed the music rendered by you and lifted our voices in song and praise in the services of the church, and by so doing we have had our hearts attuned and made to feel that harmony that makes melody in our souls and lifts us above the vain things of this world.

How grateful we are that you are endowed with the talent of music and that you have used it so faithfully for the upbuilding of mankind, and the cause of the Master.

Again let me say in behalf of our people that words are not at my command that would express the deep appreciation and gratitude our hearts hold for you, but suffice it to say that we do appreciate the good work you have done in our midst and will always be your loyal subjects May we emulate your example of faithfulness in using our talent and thus do what we can to help others to better and nobler lives.

And now with one accord on this special occasion we hope for you every good gift this life affords, and may you in the providence of God be spared to complete your work many years hence

This being the last of the realms of the "queen's kingdom," it remained only for the toast mistress to make the concluding remarks But even in them, there was much of interest, for she said:

There are times when mere words are inadequate to voice the feelings of the people They must needs have other mediums of expression. 'Tis then they delight to send gifts

'Nan, may these words which have been spoken and this gift which these fairy messengers bring to you this evening be as an incense, wafting to you in the months to come, fragrance of a love strong and lasting, that burns in the hearts of this people your church"

The circle from the shadows came tripping little Misses Lucretia and Theresa Wooton, garbed as fairies and bearing between them a tissue wrapped and silver-tied gift, more tangible evidence of the friendly expression of the whole evening The package was found to contain a handsomely fitting overnight bag

Miss Marie Patton presided at the piano during the program

Ice cream, cake and punch were served to the guests in the course of the evening—a very pleasant evening, such as one likes to remember

DALLAS SALESMAN TELLS HOW HE WON FIGHT

HUFF KNOCKED OUT TROUBLES WITH TANLAC.

"In all my long experience with Tanlac—and I have been taking it off and on for years—it has never failed to give me the results I wanted and expected," is the high tribute paid the famous medicine by Wm. B Huff, well known salesman, of 715½ N Ervay St, Dallas, Texas.

"My experience with Tanlac began some eight years ago when it was first placed on sale in Belleville, Illinois At that time, lack of appetite, along with disorders of the stomach, had put me in a badly run-down condition. I had no relish for anything in the food line and when I did try to eat a little something, I would invariably suffer for it in stomach misery, gas and bloating Constipation was also troubling me, I was excessively nervous and was scarcely able to get any sleep.

"Some of my friend in Belleville were getting such fine results from Tanlac that I decided to try it myself and the medicine made a clean, thorough sweep of all my troubles I gained weight, strength and energy, could work more effectively and felt like a new man. Since then I have used Tanlac occasionally as a tonic and it fills the bill every time. Tanlac always gets my strongest endorsement"

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

ONE DIES IN CYCLONE WHICH SWEPT KANSAS TOWN

FLOGGERS BEAT EAST TEXAS NEGRO TO DEATH

U. S. BIRDMEN REACH SUNNY FRANCE IN WORLD FLIGHT

DAMAGE EXCEEDS A MILLION IN AREA NEAR AUGUSTA

WICHITA, Kans., July 15.—A terrific wind storm attaining cyclonic proportions struck Augusta, Kansas, twenty miles east of here at 8:40 o'clock Sunday night.

One woman is known to have been killed while a score or more were badly injured. These were rushed to the Augusta and Wichita hospitals where it was reported no one was expected to die.

Augusta is a wilderness of debris. The city was struck by both a tornado and a cyclone, according to physicians caught in the storm. While a gale of cyclonic nature was blowing from the north a tornado struck the west edge of the city and then swept through the main part of the town, demolishing the stone Catholic church and wrecking practically every business building on State street, the main street of the place.

Property damage will exceed $1,000,000.

At a late hour the body of one woman, Mrs. R. F. Scott, had been found. Seachers were of the belief that the wreckage would yield more bodies. The Augusta hospital was taxed to capacity to care for the more serious cases of the injured.

A drenching rain poured over the city following the storm, hampering the work of rescuers.

BRAZIL TROOPS ATTEMPTING TO STOP REBELLION

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 14.—The situation in Sao Paulo, where Brazilian Federal troops are attempting to put down the military rebellion which started more than a week ago appeared to have settled down to a stubborn siege today with all indications that the Government eventually will be successful in restoring order.

Heavy additional reinforcements were sent to the scene of operations yesterday, both by rail and water.

Traffic on the Central Do Brasil Railway has ben opened and supplies and troops are now proceeding in a steady stream over this great artery to the rebellious zone.

Scores of prisoners and some wounded arrived in Rio over the week-end.

No official communique was issued yesterday and no newspapers were published.

Reports that the rebellion has a communist aspect and has received widespread support from the poorer classes in Sao Paulo, were denied vigorously in official circles.

"The movement is purely military and has no civilian support," the foreign official said. Reports that a majority of the population of Sao Paulo State favors secession from the Brazilian union also were vigorously denied.

GUARDSMEN RUSHED TO STORM CENTER

WICHITA, Kas., July 14.—Seventy-five National Guardsmen left Wichita shortly after midnight for Augusta to do guard duty and render aid to the sufferers, following Sunday night's storm there. About twelve doctors also went to the stricken city to aid the injured.

Scores of Wichitans went to Augusta today to view the wreckage.

SEVERE FIGHTING IS ON IN SAO PAULO

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 14.—With rebels still in control of Sao Paulo, severe fighting is under way. Federals are preparing for a big attack.

A CONNECTED SYSTEM OF HIGHWAYS

The most important economic problem before the American people today, and more especially Texas, is the building and maintenance of a connected system of State controlled highways.

Our former slip-shod method of locally built and controlled roads is not only ruinous from the standpoint of taxation and cost but is getting us nowhere.

There is not another business on earth that could exist very long, if run on the same method as road building, not only in Texas but in all the States of the Union.

Locally built and maintained roads have cost the taxpayers billions of dollars and they have no completed, connected system of highways to show for the big outlay of funds, raised from the people who sweat and toil and suffer to earn their livelihood and pay their taxes.

Any road program today that does not include a connected system of standard, hard surfaced roads, joining the centers of population not only of Texas, but of the whole United States, falls short considerably of that which it should be to gain for the community in question the proper returns on the initial and incident expenditure.

Nearly all the states in the Union have already recognized this fact and have adopted the broader program of laying and building a system of trunk line highways, uniformly maintained as State roads.

Texas today has more than 18,000 miles of surfaced roads of all classes, yet there is not a single stretch in a straight line 250 miles long to be found anywhere within the borders of the Lone Star State.

No highway is better, as such, than the worst link in it.

No road anywhere, for that matter, is any better than its bog holes.

What doth it profit a man to find paved highways between mud pools?

There will always be impassable links in our highway system until our state highway department be given more power and the money necessary to the complete development of the great arteries of transportation and traffic of Texas.

It is not always a question of honesty in local road building. Nearly all the County Commissioners of this state are honest men, but the failure on their part, wherever they have failed, can be laid to lack of knowledge and the absence of a broad program that provides for a connected system of roads properly built and properly maintained.

North Carolina is one of the most notable examples of the state wide system of road building to be found in the Southland.

Five years ago, North Carolina had less than 200 miles of surfaced roads and stood at the very bottom of the list of states in taxable values.

Today North Carolina has more than 7,000 miles of state controlled, paved highways, connecting every town in the state with every other town and the adjoining states, and today North Carolina's taxable values are more than 400 per cent greater than they were five years ago.

This increase would pay for the magnificent road system four times.

A road is not a highway until it starts somewhere and goes somewhere.

Let every Limestone county citizen urge the County Judge and Commissioners Court to withdraw the proceedings against the state highway department and give this county an equal chance with all other Texas counties in the benefits to be derived from whatever program of development may be planned for the future.

The proud mother saw the troops go by and pointed to her son, as being the only soldier who was in step.

Limestone County is like this John. This county is alone in its attack in the courts against the highway department and every tax payer and citizen in the county are to suffer as a result, for this year and doubtless for many years to come, unless Limestone steps in line with progress, wisdom and foresight at the very earliest possible moment.

VIENNA, July 14.—The three American 'round the world airplanes took off from Vienna for Paris, a distance of 650 miles at 5:40 a. m. today. They expected to reach the French capital at 2 p. m. (Vienna time).

The airmen had intended upon their arrival at Paris, to circle over the Arc d'Triomphe and drop a floral wreath upon the grave of the Unknown Soldier, but the flowers they ordered failed to arrive in time, and they were little specks on the Western horizon before the automobile delivery wagon from the florists dashed up to the airdome.

"We are glad to see white faces again and hear our language," Lieut. Lowell Smith, flight commander said. "We are enjoying this business of 'working our way around the world' but we certainly do long for the United States."

The flyers arrived safely at Strassbourg, a distance of 400 miles from Vienna, according to reports received here. After a brief half hour in Strassbourg they took the air again for Paris.

MOUNTAINS ARE BEING SCOURED FOR LOST MAJOR

ASHVILLE, N. C., July 14.—The mountainous sections around Ashville were scoured today by volunteer searchers hunting traces of Major Samuel H. McLeary, missing since July 2, when he left Raleigh for Fort Moultrie, S. C.

The search was organized by Major S. M. Williams, when a blood-stained army cap and an abandoned automobile, both identified as Major McLeary's, were found near Canton.

Word reached here that farmers in the vicinity of Canton had told of seeing two men in the army officer's car and that one of them had asked for water with which to wash away blood stains.

Authorities believe Major McLeary had been murdered and his body concealed. They could supply no motive.

Major McLeary, transferred from Fort Leavenworth, Kas., to Fort Moultrie, had driven with his wife to Norfolk, Va., and then set out alone on the lap of his journey. After wiring for funds to be sent him at Columbia, he disappeared at Raleigh two weeks ago.

Here's How It Happened

The Inside Story of the National Democratic Convention.

By A. GARLAND ADAIR
Managing Editor of The Mexia Daily News

NUMBER THREE

The Democratic convention was really over long before it adjourned. That is, the peak came before the end. The high note was struck and history made when delegates and spectators wrestled together at Madison Square Garden over the platform and lined up on the majority and minority platform planks.

After a stormy session like that, unique to say the least of it, everything else was flat and becalmed.

The nomination for President and Vice President hinged and turned on the issues of that session. The fight lasted about eight hours, from six o'clock Saturday evening until two o'clock Sunday morning, following the convening of the assemblage the Tuesday before.

The fight there, however, was not as great as that conducted in the committee-room, according to committeemen present. Waged on the floor, with 18,000 people looking on, not one of whom was silent all the way through, the convention battle was the more spectacular of the two.

When the platform of the party is forgotten and the results in November are chronicled by historians, the story of that period will remain fresh in the minds of those who heard and witnessed the proceedings or who listened in over radio. Baker's poignant plea for the League of Nations made a profound impression, both on the galleries and on the delegates seated in the arena under them. In earnestness, it probably has never been surpassed at any convention and the magnificent appeal for America's participation in a world wide peace plan will no doubt be used throughout whatever campaign is necessary to bring about a favorable vote on the subject, should it be submitted, as the majority plank provides, to the ballots of Americans. It was a drama never achieved in theatrical circles in New York City and had a touch of the tragic in it, as the vote showed that the delegates favored the plank as drafted in the platform proper.

The convention opened with everyone anxious but silent. Hundreds of police, brightly uniformed marched down the aisles of the convention hall, and without a word stationed themselves at regular intervals throughout the space occupied by the delegates. The delegates looked at them and smiled, wondering why they did not go to the galleries instead, where the real trouble, if any, would take place. Fourteen policemen lined up around the Texas delegates, which occupied an outside position, where they were watched closely by thousands of men and women who viewed the Texans as if they were some foreign element antagonistic to them and their cause, which was Al Smith.

When Mr. Baker appeared to deliver his appeal, a solid wall of people, bending and breathless, focused every eye on the little lawyer in a black coat, pale faced, exhausted and dishevelled, begging for sympathy and support in a great cause. For an hour, he tore the referendum plank into shreds with destroying and passionate pleas. He was a lonely battler amidst giants. When he had concluded, he received an ovation so remarkable and pronounced, which came from visitors and delegates alike, that the unknowing would have thought at once that he had won his cause and had converted the convention. He had given the session an hour of exaltation and of splendor. He was cheered to the echo but did not change the vote. He retired from the scene a haggard hero, with the rejected covenant clutched to his heart, but no doubt, awoke and reawoke in the hearts of all his hearers a greater faith than ever in League of Nations as written by Woodrow Wilson, the idol of the party.

Mexia Pays About Same For Goods As New Yorkers

According to Mexia citizens, recently visiting to New York City, prices at Mexia compare very favorable with prices found in the mercantile establishments and department stores of the East. Prices for clothing, ready made, hats, shoes and dry goods were about the same there as here. If anything, it is declared that the customer at Mexia is favored with slightly lower prices over the customers of New York City. The biggest differences in prices noted were in cafes as compared with prices in cafes here. The restaurants of New York City, generally, are much cheaper than in Mexia. Sweet milk sells for five cents per glass. The meat, steaks and chops and chicken sold in New York is much inferior to that sold here. The articles mentioned are kept so long in cold storage that a Texan could not relish them at all and soon learned not to order any meat, unless it was ham or bacon for breakfast. At the cafeterias, ham and eggs or bacon and eggs, with potatoes, butter, bread and coffee, were to be had for forty cents, while at restaurants where they were served to the customers the price was fifty-five cents. Also restaurants were numerous where a breakfast of cereal or fruit, some sort of meat, potatoes, one egg, toast or bread and coffee or milk could be had for fifty cents.

The most popular drink at confectionery stands in New York City now is orange fruit juice. Stands dispensing this beverage are to be found almost every block and the drink is sold to millions daily at five cents a glass, the oranges being crushed and kept ice cold.

Waco Manager Is Well Known Here

E. E. Adams, of Bryan, is scheduled to assume the duties of City Manager of Waco Tuesday of this week. He was appointed Waco City Manager about two weeks ago. For his services he is to be paid $500 monthly. Mr. Adams is well known in Mexia. For the past several years he has been City Manager at Bryan. On a visit paid by Bryan Rotarians to Mexia several months ago, Mr. Adams was with the crowd and spoke in behalf of the City Manager plan at the program given by the Bryanites at the Reunion Grounds. He is a trained Civil Engineer and an A. and M. graduate. He succeeds J. B. McCauley, Waco's first City manager, who resigned after holding the office only a very few weeks. He stated that the City Manager plan was alright but that he could not get along with one of the Commissioners.

Landrum Tells Boys Of Mexia Advantages Compared With East

W. B. Landrum, who recently attended the National Democratic Convention in New Yory City, at the First Christian Church Sunday School Sunday taught a boys class, stressing upon each youthful mind how happy he should be that he is a young citizen of Mexia. He pointed out that the children of Texas are blessed with environments conducive to manly growth and genuine happiness not to be found generally by the millions of lads and lassies of the big city of the East. He pointed out that in one section, about a mile square in New York there is a million people. He visited this section and saw the children by the tens of thousands in the streets and on the sidewalks. They appeared to be existing merely and not living. In all the vast multitude, he did not see a barefoot child. The heat on the pavement was so intense that they had to wear shoes through the hot summer months.

ESTHER EARLE MADDOX

Esther Earle, the 6 years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Maddox died in the Teague hospital at 2 a. m., Monday after an operation for appendicitis, which was performed Sunday. The little one had only been sick a couple of days when the operation was decided upon. The funeral will occur this afternoon at 5 o'clock with interment in the City Cemetery. The grief stricken parents have the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends in their great loss.

WHACHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's hero: Joe Bush, Yank's moundsman. He let the Browns down with five hits while his teammates amassed a 6 to 2 victory.

The veteran Al Sothoron was chased from the mound while the Robins were pounding out their 9 to 4 victory over the Cards.

The Braves blanked the Reds, 4 to 0, in the first game but lost the second, 6 to 0.

Three home runs from the Giant's heavy sluggers enabled New York to pound out a 9 to 6 win over the Cubs.

Umpire Holmes was struck on the jaw by irate fan after Holmes had banished Manager Harris, yet the Senators won from the Indians, 15 to 11.

STYLE HINTS

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, July 14.—Large stripes and mighty plaids are features of the new frocks that are being prepared for Summer resorts and outing places.

The smaller the woman the larger the patterns of the plaid. The bigger the check the better in this case, as well as in that of the paper variety. In fact, some of the smaller women have taken on the appearance of just one large check. This is all right for one of small dimensions, but let the woman of large proportions, especially across the back, take care!

For country wear there is a charming linen dress of soft, creamy tint, showing a wide brown stripe, alternating with some narrow yellow lines edged with white. Another comes in checkered, embroidered white voile or muslin, with lace insertions covering the material.

For street wear there are light kashas in large plaids; simple, straight and very short, with no trimming but a narrow leather belt and white cowl collar. There are plaid coats with plain dresses, or the other way around. This is very smart in gray, with yellow and blue in the plaid, or may be in brown, with yellow in the plaid. Navy with plaid silk makes a nice combination.

Plaid muslins make charming afternoon dresses to wear under silk coats, and they are also much used for tunics and casaquins. Then there are taffetas in gay Scotch patterns, which appear as vestee effects in tailored cloth costumes. They come in alpaca weave, combined with solid color satin and form the foundation of a dress veiled over with a dark chiffon.

For traveling costumes and coats there is nothing more popular than the large checks and plaids. Beer puts a large shawl collar of checkered ziblikasha on a costume of the plain material and a deep fisherwoman's hem, as well. A plain costume with checkered capes, makes a very smart outfit.

"For Mexia, I WILL"

HONEST NOW

Am I really and truly interested in my chruch—in helping it achieve its objects and ideals—or do I just think I am? What do I do to prove my interest—that it's half as vital, for example, as I think it is?

How do I look to the man on the outside? Could he tell I am interested by what I do? How do I look to him?

Am I a good example for anybody to follow, or do I just think I am, or do I think about my responsibility, in this connection, at all?

Do I attend church service as often as I think I do?

How would the minister classify me?As interested, indifferent, cold, as a friend and helper, or just as—one of the congregation? Would he be justified by what I do?

Do I really give as the Lord hath prospered me, or do I just think I do? If I should add up my contributions to local church support and to missions, would they represent as large a part of my total income as I think they do?

Would a stranger think me as liberal as I think I am, even if he had all the facts of my other responsibilities?

Do I really care for missions at all? Do I really ever deny myself—a new suit, cigars—anything—to help forward the cause? Do I really ever deny myself, or I just think I do?

Do I really believe it more blessed to give than to receive, or do I just think I do?

What kind of church member am I anyhow? Am I the kind I think I am, or do I just think I am?

Try a little introspection along these lines.—Duplex-Richmond.

"But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and Ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth."—Acts 1:8.

"So far as we know, history has no instance of a national character built up without the aid of religious instruction. The final question regarding education is whether it avails to produce the type of character required by the republic and the race."—Edward O. Sisson.

"I believe in religious instruction for American children. The future cannot be trusted to the children unless their education includes their spiritual development."—Warren G. Harding.

Some one has said truly: "It matters not on what plane of life one labors, nor how large or small the number of his acquaintances, the man who toils and yet knows that in the circle of his influence there is at least one life in which there is sunshine where, but for him, there would have been shadow; that there is at least one home in which there is cheer, where, but for him, there would have been gloom; that three is at least one heart in which there is hope where, but for him, there would have been despair—that man carries with him, as he goes, one of the richest treasures on this earth."—(From First Presbyterian Bulletin.)

THERE'S ART IN BOBBING

It's no longer a question of snip, snip and it's off.
Particular women now demand that the hair which remains form a becoming frame for the face and gracefully outlined head.
That's where "art" comes in, for there are as many styles of bobs as there are bobbed haired girls and women. Each one is an individual problem of chin, eyes, nose and mouth.

Then there's the fashionable element — the smart touch which has always associated Paris with women's coiffures——
And the necessity of keeping the hair glossy, fluffy and clean.
All that fastidious women desire will be accomplished by a weekly visit and a small sum well spent at

HOLLINGSWORTH IS HOME FROM BIG MEETING OF LIONS

Noel Hollingsworth has returned from Omaha, Nebraska, where he attended the Eighth Annual Convention of Lions International, representing the Mexia club.

He reports a great convention and one that sounded a new high note of service to the communities in which the Lions clubs are active.

About 4,000 delegates and visitors were present, representing all states of the United States and two Canadian provinces.

The program was inspirational and entertaining throughout. The message stressed upon the delegates was that every Lions organization should have an objective, a goal, a purpose of community uplife and service. This was particularly emphasized by Merl Smith, of Kansas City, in an address on "Putting Pep into the Clubs."

The music and entertainment features, Mr. Hollingsworth declared to be superb and "all we needed was thirty six hours every day while there" he stated.

The convention lasted from June 20 to June 24, inclusive.

Lt. Colonel Charles M. R. Graham of Montreal delivered one of the fore most speeches of the session, this being in response to the address of welcome tendered by Mayor John C. Dahlman of Omaha. The Canada man stated that some had referred to the Canadians as "Cousins to Americans". He said with fervor that this was wrong, that Canadians and Americans are brothers.

Dr. M. M. Neilson told the convention of the Narcotic Habit. He was from Salt Lake. Douglas Malloch was on the program and entertained the delegates with his humorous verse on "Some Sinners I Have Met." J. Adam Beade spoke on "The Abolition of Hate."

Harry A. Newman of Toronto was elected President of the Club this coming year and Cedar Point, Iowa, was selected as the 1925 convention city.

CASE OF MIRRORED VISION

(From Buffalo, N. Y. Express)

Fairmont, W. Va.—What is believed to be the sixth case of mirrored vision ever discovered, has been found in the Fairmont schools. Sam Tiana sees backwards, writes from the right to the left of the paper, reads backward and even sees things coming toward him that are really going away from him.

About three weeks ago Tiana entered the Fourth grade of the Miller school. Something seemed to be the matter with the child, so an examination was arranged with Miss Ruth Heintleman, school nurse, and Dr. Luther Davis. Dr. Davis discovered that the child was having trouble with his eyes. Miss Charlotte Townson, teacher of the second grade, then produced some of the boy's writing, showing that he wrote all of his letters backward, beginning at the right hand of the paper and oing to the left. The result was unreadable unless reflected in a mirror.

Another examination was arranged with Dr. H. R. Johnson, eye specialist, who declared that he believed the case to be one of mirrored vision, one of the most unusual of eye cases. The defect is caused by some imperfection in the brain construction. When the examination took place here a New York specialist was present, who said he had never seen a similar case.

LETTERS From the People

INNOCENT AMUSEMENTS

While out driving with a crowd of the older generation in our town over the good paved streets we saw several cars going in one direction, we just thought we would see where the jolly bunch of youngsters were going. All at once they drove up to a home on North Kaufman, of course we stopped too. In one of the cars was the "Sun Down Orchestra" and another a three gallon freezer of ice cream and we decided to sit in our car and hear the music which we all enjoyed far more than just riding around. We sat there and watched the youngsters enjoy their young days as we all once enjoyed ours, only we went from sundown to sunup where they never think of staying out later than twelve. As long as we stayed there as well as others came up and looked and listened not one word did we hear wrong nor a single boy or girl left to take a car ride or sit out side for the music was appreciated by them as well as a number of others I want to say one word for them, if there were more homes opened to entertainments there would be far less car riding, reunion ground dancing, swimming parties and picture show stories to tell. It would be far more appreciating and more confidence placed in parents and children than it is to be walking the floors and weeping "O where is my wandering boy or girl tonight" than it could be with a contented mind with a happy spirit of "When you and I were young Maggie." Whether you care to take part or not allow them more privilege and there will be less car wrecks, as well as slipping off and going home to tell mother and father a litle "get-by" story, for they are young as well as we all once have been and they will be more truthful to their parents.

MAD HATTER LIVES UP TO NAME

NEW YORK, July 11.—Mad Hatter, of the Rancocas Stable, is an "in-and-outer." If it weren't for this the colt might easily have made a name for itself as the greatest on the American turf.

Sam Hildreth, the taciturn, who loves horses better than anything else and understands them better than most people, talks a little about Mad Hatter once in a while. When he does, he says:

"He's the most peculiar horse ever I trained. Easy to train, too. Gentle in the stable; rather quiet-like and thoughtful a good bit of the time. But what's going on behind those big brown yes, Lord only knows.

"In the morning trials he'll do any thing we ask him to. He eats all the time. He loves Earl Sande, who rides him best.

"But when he gets the colors up and starts for the post—nobody knows what he's going to do."

Mad Hatter has done some pretty big things in its equine way. Its winnings fall just a bit short of $200,000. They could have been twice that sum had it always chosen to win.

The horse is 8 years old, sound, can carry big weight (although it is beginning to feel its age a little in this respect,) has started in 91 races and won more than a third of them, including 18 important stakes, this year's Suburban Handicap among them. But Mad Hatter will do its best when and only when it feels so inclined.

"When he leaves my hands"—says Hildreth, who once bought Mad Hatter from Major Belmont and sold it it Harry F. Sinclair, whose horses he now trains, "all I can do is pray. Sometimes he stands up there like a statue; sometimes he's mean and bites the other horses.

"Mars Cassidy (the veteran starter) generally puts him on the outside. Saves trouble when the horse starts kicking up.

"Sometimes he wants to run out in front and sometimes he wants to run behind, and sometimes he just naturally don't want to run at all, and on those occasions even Earl Sande can't get him up.

"He's a puzzle. You can't force Mad Hatter. Sande's best at humoring him. We know he likes a hard, fast track and that he resents punishment and that when he's unusually quiet the day before a race he is going to run well.

"But what that horse intends to do next nobody knows. And he's good for several more years of the same. Not a blemish on his legs.

Mad Hatter is by Fair Play out of Madcap. August Belmont had the horse at his Kentucky Nursery Farm. It won the first two times out. Hildreth, who hadn't been over-enthusiastic at first, became interested, but the colt caught a fever and the war came on and Belmont sold his horses, Mad Hatter among them. Hildreth didn't want the colt to get away, so he bought it himself.

Under Hildreth's ownership, the horse won the Latonia Championship of $50,000 and the Pimlco Autumn Handicap. It is the only colt to win two Metropolitan Handicaps. In 1921 it won the Kings County Handicap and the Jockey Cup, and the following year won them both again. Some of his other stake victories were in the Toboggan, the Bowie Handicap the October Handicap. This year it won the Suburban and the Laurelton.

NATIONAL THRIFT COMMITTEE REPORTS PROGRESS

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 14.—(Scottish Rite News Bureau).—The work of the Committee on Thrift Education, of the National Education Association, is intimately concerned not only with the saving of money, the elimination of waste, and the teaching of these in the public schools, but with the making of a higher type of citizen. Character forms the basis of all citizenship; the better characters are those who have a wise forethought for the future, which is the end and aim of all thrift teaching.

Arthur M. Chamberlain, chairman of the committee, says:

"To integrate the thrift activities and projects with the regular school subjects is to give vitality and meaning to lessons which may seem, under the old system of teaching, to bear no relation to the life of the individual. As we have tried out the system in Oakland, California, the work in English is enriched and made to function in all school studies; the arithmetic is practicalized and carried over into everyday activities; the social studies, civics, citizenship, Americanization, biography, take on meaning and significance. Students are led into—not away from—a desire to save and spend wisely, to evaluate time, and to husband the resources of nature for the benefit of future generations.

"It is the desire of the thrift committee to develop further courses of study in a number of outstanding school systems throughout the country."

In the "little red school house" days of education thrift was taught, if taught at all, only in its home economic aspects. That is, the farmer's daughter was instructed that it was "sinful" to waste food, and that only that should go to the pig pen which was not fit for human consumption. The boy was taught that "thrift" consisted in the saving of money, rather than of effort; with money scarce, it, of course, became the great object of saving.

Thrift as taught today means economy of effort, of resources, of time, as well as of money. Public school teaching of thrift today is a citizenshop builder, not a maker of misers. That the committee in charge of the work is so well able to spread the teaching is a source of the greatest satisfaction to all who have the cause of real character building education at heart.

SAVED BY HIS BELT

WILMER.—When lightning struck a telephone wire near a pole on which Andy Ashley, lineman, was working, Ashley was knocked unconscious and tumbled backwards. His safety belt caught on an iron peg on the pole and he hung there until rescued. The bolt severely shocked Ashley.

HOUSEWIVES ARE MAD

DALLAS.—Housewives here are up in arms because ice companies have boosted the price of ice five cents a hundred pounds. Now they plan to force the companies to carry scales on the wagons and weigh each piece of ice before delivering it. At present the ice wagon drivers do not use scales, merely judging the weight by "hefting" the ice and by dividing a 300 pound block into squares.

SWAT THE FLY

SWEETWATER.—Wayne Grogan won the first Fly Swatting contest in Nolan county and was presented with a check for five dollars after he turned in a pint of flies that he had felled with his swatter.

Bad legislation and exorbitant prices and wages are the same thing; that is, they are equivalent to prohibitive costs. Fundamentals are sound and business will be good unless prospects are neutralized by avoidable mistakes.—Journal, Lorain, Ohio.

Presbyterians Honor Miss Oates

The members of the First Presbyterian Church enjoyed an unusually pleasant social hour Thursday evening when they gathered on the lawn of the manse, nominally to participate in an old fashioned get-to-gether party, but really to express appreciation of one of the most loved members of the congregation, Miss Nan Oates. The honoree was carefully left uninformed as to the underlying motive of the gathering.

At 8:45, the assembled guests were seated in the lighted and festively decorated yard. As a pleasant introduction to the program, Mr. George Bell sang two numbers, being accompanied on the piano by Miss Oates. After this, the Reverend Hudson, pastor of the church, in a few sentences struck the key-note of the evening when he described the benefit of a life of service. After Mr. Hudson had spoken, Mrs. Chas. Alderman took charge of the program in the capacity of toast mistress. After explaining that the feature of the evening would be in the nature of a surprise she gave a signal, in response to which, four pages, Masters Henry Moore, T. E. Wright, Tommie Randolph and Fay Smith appeared bearing aloft on their shoulders a beautifully decorated chair, which, with due ceremony, was placed on the platform that had been made ready for it. Mrs. Alderman then told the audience that they would pretend for just that evening, that the chair was a throne—Miss Nan Oates her Majesty, who was to sit on the throne, and the members of the Presbyterian church her loyal subjects assembled to pay their homage and pledge anew their allegiance.

Misses Glynn Mitchell and Emma Rennolds were asked to act as a royal escort to conduct Miss Oates to the throne. This ceremony being completed the toast mistress in a few fitting words paid a tribute to the honoree, after which, in response to her call, the following toasts were given, the first in order being from the Sunday School class of which Miss Oates is a member. This was given by Miss Lillian Ross, the president of the class, and was as follows:

There is a person in our class—
You know her very well—
Whose willing hand and kindly heart
In words 'tis hard to tell.

We like hre for her gentle self;
We like her happy way,
We like her for the things she says,—
And things she doesn't say.

She's always helping carry on,
She's never "picking motes,"
She's many, many other things,—
But then,—she's just Nan Oates.

After the toast was given the class filed to a semi-circular position behind the throne making a background for the tableau effect which was to be formed as the program proceeded.

Other toasts given were from Mrs. T. B. Chatham, as representative of the Auxiliary:

In our Auxiliary Circle of the First Presbyterian Church,
We have a charter memmebr, whom we love very much.
To her, duty is a pleasure; she's patient and she's kind,
She's faithful in small things, a virtue hard to find.

She has the gift of making friends, for she's loyal and she's true,
Without her in the Circle, I don't know what we'd do.
Of course, it's Nan I'm talking about, and we wish her happiness,
May each day be filled with peace and joy.
And her heart just full of gladness.

From a band of children representing the Sunday School:
(Air "Jesus Loves Me.")

That we love you, you must know,
For we're here to tell you so
May God His blessings keep in store
And guard and guide you evermore.
Chorus.
Yes, Nan, we love you
Yes, Nan, we love you
Yes, Nan, we love you
We're here to tell you so.

As a representative of the whole church Mr. G. A. Lyell expressed their appreciation as follows:

Miss Nan: I come as a messenger from the church, and I am asked to not only express our appreciation of your faithful service in the church's many different phases of work but to acknowledge an obligation of long standing—an indebtedness that has only grown greater with the passing years, until now we feel our utter inability to convey to you the true genuineness and depth of the feelings of our people.

I refer to your work as Organist in the treble capacity of church, Sunday school and prayer meeting services.

We may have seemed indifferent and insensible to the innumerable sacrifices that you have made, and the many hours of valuable time you have given to this work, and perhaps we have not always been sufficiently thoughtful to express our gratitude in words, but at this moment we would come with one mind and heart assuring you deep down in our hearts we have been ever cognizant of our obligation to you.

How often have we followed the music rendered by you and lifted our voices in song and praise in the services of the church, and by so doing we have had our hearts attuned and made to feel that harmony that makes melody in our souls and lifts us above the vain things of this world.

How grateful we are that you are endowed with the talent of music and that you have used it so faithfully for the upbuilding of mankind, and the cause of the Master.

Again let me say in behalf of our people that words are not at my command that would express the deep appreciation and gratitude our hearts hold for you, but suffice it to say that we do appreciate the good work you hove done in our midst and will always be your loyal subjects. May we emulate your example of faithfulness in using our talent and thus do what we can to help others to better and nobler lives.

And now with one accord on this special occasion we hope for you every good gift this life affords, and may you in the providence of God be spared to complete your work many years hence.

This being the last of the realms of the "queen's kingdom," it remained only for the toast mistress to make the concluding remarks. But even in them, there was much of interest, for she said:

"There are times when mere words are inadequate to voice the feelings of the people. They must needs have other mediums of expression. 'Tis then they delight to send gifts.

"Nan, may these words which have been spoken and this gift which these fairy messengers bring to you this evening, be as an incense, wafting to you in the months to come; fragrance of a love strong and lasting, that burns in the hearts of this people your church."

Then upon from the shadows came tripping little Misses Lucretia and Theresa Wooton, garbed as fairies and bearing between them a tissue wrapped and silver-tied gift, more tangible evidence of the friendly expression of the whole evening. The package was found to contain a handsomely fitting overnight bag.

Miss Marie Patton presided at the piano during the program.

Ice cream, cake and punch were served to the guests in the course of the evening—a very pleasant evening, such as one likes to remember.

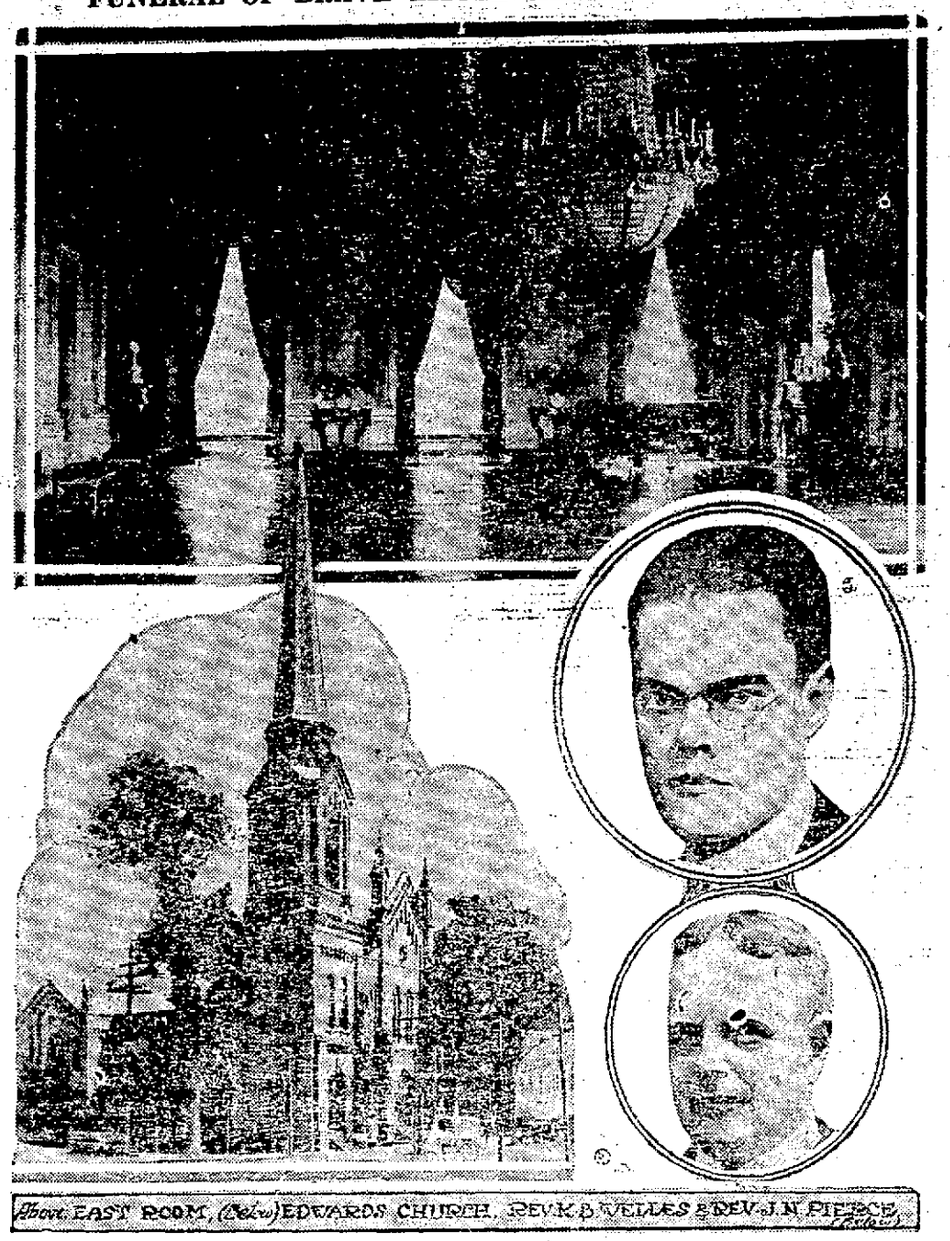
FUNERAL OF BRAVE LITTLE CALVIN COOLIDGE, JR.



Above: EAST ROOM, (Below) EDWARDS CHURCH, REV. K. B. WELLES & REV. J. N. PIERCE

Simple funeral services for brave little Calvin Coolidge, Jr., were held in the East room of the White House in Washington, conducted by Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Washington, where the President's family worships. Additional services were conducted in the Edwards Congregational Church in Northampton, Mass., the Coolidge home, by Rev. Kenneth B. Welles. Young Calvin attended that church and was a member of its troop of Boy Scouts.

DALLAS SALESMAN TELLS HOW HE WON FIGHT

HUFF KNOCKED OUT TROUBLES WITH TANLAC.

"In all my long experience with Tanlac—and I have been taking it off and on for years—it has never failed to give me the results I wanted and expected," is the high tribute paid the famous medicine by Wm. B. Huff, well known salesman, of 715½ N. Ervay St., Dallas, Texas.

"My experience wiht Tanlac began some eight years ago when it was first placed on sale in Belleville, Illinois. At that time, lack of appetite, along with disorders of the stomach, had put me in a badly rundown condition. I had no relish for anything in the food line and when I did try to eat a little something, I would invariably suffer for it in stomach misery, gas and bloating. Constipation was also troubling me, I was excessively nervous and was scarcely able to get any sleep.

"Some of my friend in Belleville were getting such fine results from Tanlac that I decided to try it myself and the medicine made a clean, thorough sweep of all my troubles. I gained weight, strength and energy, could work more effectively and felt like a new man. Since then I have used Tanlac occasionally as a tonic and it fills the bill every time. Tanlac always gets my strongest endorsement."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills, for Constipation, made and recommended by the manufacturers of TANLAC.—(Adv.)
